Letter from the Incoming Secretary-General

Honorable Delegates, Faculty Advisers, and Friends of Midwest Model United Nations,

The gratitude I would like to express for what we were able to accomplish at MMUN 61 I can not express in words. As I observed delegates' work, jumped into huddles, listened to the 'broadcast' of formal session and saw compassion and empathy during times of our technical difficulties I was reminded of why Midwest Model United Nations means so much to me: the people who come to this conference want to show that Diplomacy is still alive and well. To the MMUN 61 delegates, and future delegates, you are an excellent example of Global Citizens striving to make the world a better place.

I was fortunate enough to attend MMUN in 2014 as a delegate, and twice more thereafter. I represented the delegation of Ireland in ECOSOC and fell flat on my face on the first night in the first session when another delegate informed me, "Ireland- you need to sit down and let other delegates speak." I had prepared, I had an agenda, but I hadn't experienced model UN in real life before that moment and I had much to learn about diplomacy and consensus building. I am happy to say that I turned that around and left ECOSOC with a delegate's choice award and it made me fall in love with MMUN because of the growth I experienced in such a short span of time. Even to this day, MMUN helps me to grow as a person. I am honored to have served as an MMUN volunteer staff member for five consecutive years and to be your Secretary-General for MMUN 62.

As we look forward to MMUN 62, we are excited to be simulating six committees and an agenda that includes a variety of pressing topics that range from nuclear power and sustainable development, prevention of an arms race in outer space, and mobilizing resources for post Covid-19 Recovery. The agenda we have set for MMUN 62 addresses the problems of the international community and delegates will have practical opportunities to apply their knowledge of current events, international relations, and diplomacy while practicing their writing, researching, public-speaking, and networking skills here.

Although I can not express in words my gratitude to those that made MMUN 61 a reality, the excitement, hope, drive, and passion that I have to bring you an amazing Model United Nations experience at MMUN 62 is real. I will see you all next year.

Stay well,
Lindsey Tyson
Secretary-General
